RE: EPA-R10-2015-004409

Dear Mr. Allnut:

I received your response to my letter of January 23, 2015 informing me that you needed an extra 10 days to respond to my request for information. I am confused as to why you need this extension. The information requested should, according to EPA's Quality Guidelines, have been developed and completed during the initial stages of EPA's development of the Bristol Bay Assessment in 2011. Therefore, the requested information should have already been completed and immediately available. No coordination with other offices should be required at this time. It would be natural to conclude that such a document would be part of EPA's administrative record.

However, now that you have requested additional time to respond, I am asking that you add information to my original request. I am now asking that you include the date(s) on which the requested assessment was completed, in addition to my original request.

Sincerely,

Randy Bailey
